Persons of sedentary habits troubled with weakness, lassitude, palpitation of the heart, lack of appetite, distress after eating, torpid fever, constipation, &c., deserve to suffer if they will not try the celebrated PLANTATION BITTERS, which are now recommended by the highest medical authorities, and are warranted to produce an immediate beneficial effect. They are exceedingly agreeable, perfectly pure, and must supersede all other tonics where a healthy, gentle stimulant is required.

They purify, strengthen and invigorate.
They create a healthy appetite.
They are an antidote to change of water and diet.
They strengthen the system and enliven the mind.
They prevent miasmatic and intermittent fevers.
They purify the breath and acidity of the stomach.
They cure Dyspepsia and Constipation.
They cure Liver Complaint and Nervous Headache.

They make the weak strong, the languid brilliant, and are exhausted nature's great restorer. They are composed of the celebrated Calisaya Bark, wintergreen, sassafras, roots and herbs, all preserved in perfectly pure St. Croix rum. For particulars, see circulars and testimonials around each bottle.

Beware of impostors. Examine every bottle. See that it has our private U. S. stamp unmutilated over the cork with plantation scene, and our signature on a fine steel plate side label. ☞ See that our bottle is not refilled with spurious and deleterious stuff. ☞ Any person pretending to sell Plantation Bitters by the gallon or in bulk, is an impostor. Any person imitating this bottle, or selling any other material therein, whether called Plantation Bitters or not, is a criminal under the U. S. Law, and will be so prosecuted by us. The demand for Drake's Plantation Bitters, from ladies, clergymen, merchants, &c., is incredible. The simple trial of a bottle is the evidence we present of their worth and superiority. They are sold by all respectable druggists, grocers, physicians, hotels, saloons, steamboats and country stores.

Have you a hurt child or a lame horse? Use the Mexican Mustang Liniment.

For cuts, sprains, burns, swellings and caked breasts, the Mexican Mustang Liniment is a certain cure.

For rheumatism, neuralgia, stiff joints, stings and bites, there is nothing like the Mexican Mustang Liniment.

For spavined horses, the poll evil, ringbone and sweeny, the Mexican Mustang Liniment never fails.

For wind-galls, scratches, big-head and splint, the Mexican Mustang Liniment is worth its weight in gold.

Cuts, bruises, sprains and swellings, are so common and certain to occur in every family, that a bottle of this Liniment is the best investment that can be made.

It is more certain than the doctor—it saves time in sending for the doctor—it is cheaper than the doctor, and should never be dispensed with.

"In lifting the kettle from the fire, it tipped over and scalded my hands terribly. * * * The Mustang Liniment extracted the pain, caused the sore to heal rapidly, and left very little scar.

CHAS. FOSTER, 420 Broad street, Philada.

Mr. S. Litch, of Hyde Park, Vt., writes: "My horse was considered worthless, (spavin,) but since the use of the Mustang Liniment, I have sold him for $150. Your Liniment is doing wonders up here."

All genuine is wrapped in steel plate engravings, signed, G. W. Westbrook, Chemist, and also has the private U. S. stamp of Demas Barnes & Co., over the top.

Look closely, and be not deceived by counterfeits.

Sold by all Druggists at 25, 50 cts, and $1,00.

It is a most delightful Hair Dressing.
It eradicates scurf and dandruff.
It keeps the head cool and clean.
It makes the hair rich, soft and glossy.
It prevents the hair turning gray and falling off.
It restores hair upon prematurely bald heads.

This is just what Lyon's Kathairon will do. It is pretty—it is cheap—durable. It is literally sold by the carload, and yet its almost incredible demand is daily increasing, until there is hardly a country store that does not keep it, or a family that does not use it.

Who would not be beautiful? Who would not add to their beauty? What gives that marble purity and distingue appearance we observe upon the stage and in the city belle? It is no longer a secret. They use Hagan's Magnolia Balm. Its continued use removes tan, freckles, pimples, and roughness, from the face and hands, and leaves the complexion smooth, transparent, blooming and ravishing. Unlike many cosmetics, it contains no material injurious to the skin. Any Druggist will order it for you, if not on hand, at 50 cents per bottle.

Heimstreet's Inimitable Hair Coloring is not a dye. All instantaneous dyes are composed of lunar caustic, and more or less destroy the vitality and beauty of the hair. This is the original Hair Coloring, and has been growing in favor over twenty years. It restores gray hair to its original color by gradual absorption, in a most remarkable manner. It is also a beautiful hair dressing. Sold in two sizes—50 cents and $1—by all dealers.

FORGET NOT THE UNHAPPY.

Forget not the unhappy,
Amid the bright and gay,
The world can give you nothing
It will not take away;
Make much then of the moments
You never can renew,
And forget not the unhappy,
For, oh! their friends are few!

Their friends are few, and faintly
They whisper comfort now;
And offer scant assistance
With cold and cautious brow;
Each minute they are gazing
Upon their watch to go;
Oh! forget not the unhappy,
For kindness cometh slow!

Forget not the unhappy,
Though sorrow may annoy,
There's something then for memory
HEREAFTER to enjoy!
Oh! still from Fortune's garland
Some flowers FOR OTHERS strew;
And forget not the unhappy,
For, oh! their friends are few!

A FRIEND tells us the following which we consider a "good 'un." Being in a mechanic's shop, the other day, an urchin came in, his dress covered with mud. His father instantly observing his dirty plight, said to him:

"William, my son, how came you to muddy your dress so?"

The boy stopped a moment, then looking his father, in the eye very soberly, asked:

"Father, what am I made of?"

"Dust, the Bible says."

"Well, father, if I am dust, how can I help being muddy when it rains on me?"

"William, go down stairs and get some wood, start!"

A GREAT many fools strut in a dignified way through life, and get credit for wisdom they are far from possessing. In a recitation room of a law school not a thousand miles from Chicago, one of the professors, to test the ability of a student he was examining, asked this question:

"Mr. ——, what do you think should be done to a man who had committed suicide?"

The student was puzzled; he rubbed his head a moment, as if to brighten his ideas, and then responded—

"Well, it is my opinion as a professional man, that he ought to be made to support the child!"

☞"I say, Mister, did you see a dog come by here that looked as if he were a year, or a year and a half, or two years old?" said a Yankee to a countryman at the roadside.

"Yes," said the countryman, thinking himself quizzed, "he passed about an hour, or an hour and a half, or two hours ago; and is now a mile, or a mile and a half, or two miles ahead; and he had a tail about an inch, or an inch and a half, or two inches long."

"That'll do," said the Yankee; "you are into me a foot, or a foot and a half, or two feet."

THE following purports to be a medical puff: "Dear Doctor—I shall be one hundred and seventy-five years old next October. For over eighty-four years I have been an invalid, unable to step, except when moved by a lever. But a year ago I heard of the Granicular Syrup. I bought a bottle, smelt the cork, and found myself a man. I can now run twelve miles and a half an hour.

A LADY correspondent, in commenting upon the short sacks worn by the gentlemen, says, "Whenever I see them my spirit of combativeness is immediately aroused. Surely 'tilting hoops' have found a kindred fashion among the noble sex." In justice to our correspondent we must acknowledge that gentlemen's sacks are rather short of modesty.

☞"Sir," said a little blustering man to a religious opponent, "to what sect do you suppose I belong?" "Well I don't know," drawled his opponent, "but to judge from your size, appearance, and constant buzzing, I should think you belong to the class generally called in-sect."

☞A lady, very fond of her husband, notwithstanding his ugliness of person, said to Rodgers, the poet—"What do you think! My husband has laid out fifty guineas for a baboon on purpose to please me." "The dear little man," replied Rodgers, "it's just like him."

THAT was a very pretty conceit of a romantic husband and father whose name was Rose, who named his daughter "Wild," so that she grew up under the appellation of "Wild Rose." But the romance of the name was sadly spoiled in a few years, when she married a man by the name of "Bull."

☞A Glasgow antiquary recently visited Cathcart Castle, and asked one of the villagers "if he knew anything of an old story about the building." "Ay," said the rustic, "there was another auld storey, but it fell down long since."

☞Jones inquried why the whistle of a locomotive was a work of art. After a lapse of some seconds, which passed in silence, he said, "Because it is a modern car-tune."

A beautiful young lady just entering society asked her mother for a watch. Her mother replied. "I think you need a watcher more."

"Didn't you suppose, sir, that I kept a Bible?" "No, I didn't think that you kept God's word, as I know that you never kept your own."

A bad cause has often triumphed over a good one, because vigilant villany is an overmatch for slumbering virtue.

What Young People Should Know.

The best inheritance which parents can give to their children is the ability to help and take care of themselves. This is better than a hundred thousand dollars a piece. In any trouble or difficulty, they have two excellent servants in the shape of two hands.—Those who can do nothing, and have to be waited upon, are helpless and easily disheartened in the misfortunes of life. Those who are active and hardy meet troubles with a cheerful face, and easily surmount them. Let young people, therefore, learn to do as many things as possible. Every boy should sooner or later,

1. To dress himself, black his own boots, cut his brother's hair, wind a watch, sew on a button, make a bed, and keep his clothes in order.

2. To harness a horse, grease a wagon, and harness a team.

3. To carve, and wait on a table.

4. To milk the cows, shear the sheep, and dress a veal or mutton.

5 To reckon money and keep accounts correctly, and according to good book-keeping rules.

6 To write a neat and appropriate, briefly expressed business letter, in a good hand, fold and superscribe it properly, and write contracts.

7 To plow, sow grain or grass, drive a mowing machine, build a neat stack and pitch hay.

8 To put up a package, build a fire, mend broken tools, whitewash a wall, and regulate a clock.

Every girl should know how,

1 To sew and knit.

2 To mend clothes neatly.

3 To make beds.

4 To dress her hair.

5 To wash the dishes and sweep the carpets.

6 To make good bread and perform all plain cooking.

7 To keep her rooms, drawers, and closets in order.

8 To work a sewing machine.

9 To make good butter and cheese.

10 To make a dress and children's clothing.

11 To keep accounts and reckon interest.

12 To write, fold and superscribe letters properly.

13 To nurse the sick efficiently, and not faint at the sight of a drop of blood.

14 To be ready to render efficient aid and comfort to those in trouble, and in an unostentatious way.

15 To receive and entertain visitors in the absence or sickness of her mother.

A young lady who can do all these things well, and who is always ready to render aid to the afflicted, and mitigate the perplexities of those around her, will bring more comfort to others and happiness to herself, and be more esteemed than if she only knew how to dance, simper, sing, and play on the piano.—Home Monthly.

About Dogs.

Few persons are aware of the value and variety of dogs, varying, as they do, in weight from one hundred and eighty pounds to less than one pound, and in value from about five hundred dollars to less than nothing. A description of the different varieties may not be uninteresting: The Siberian bloodhound weighs about one hundred and sixty pounds, measures forty inches in girth, and is worth nearly five hundred dollars. The St. Bernard dog, which is of a blue or light-red color, is very large and valuable. The Newfounland dog, when pure, is entirely black, and its pups are worth from $10 to $20. The shepherd dog, or Scotch coolly, is wonderful for its patience, fidelity and bravery. It is worth from $50 to $100. The English mastiff, a good watch dog, is worth from $15 to $25. Of terriers, the black and tan is most admired. It varies in weight from one pound to twenty-five pounds, and increases in value as it decreases in weight. A member of the bar in this city has one which weighs less than a pound, and is the smallest we have ever seen. It could not be bought for $150. Terriers are often crossed with the Italian greyhound, producing a very delicate, but extremely useless dog. The Scotch terrier is the hardiest of dogs, is very courageous and is worth from $10 to $30. The Scotch deerhound is the rarest and most valuable of hunting dogs. They are very rare and are owned principally by the nobility of England. They are worth $100 each. The beagle is the smallest of the hound kind, of superior scent and endurance, and is the best sort of rabbit hunter. English greyhounds, the fleetest of dogs, are worth from $25 to $100 each. The Italian greyhound is merely a parlor dog. The pure breed is rare and valuable, a fine one being worth $150.

There is a great variety of pointers, setters and spaniels. The Prince Charles variety is the most valuable of spaniels. He is supposed to have originated in Japan, where a similar breed exists. He has a round head, short nose, long curly ears, large full eyes, black and tan color, and never weighs over ten pounds. They have been sold in England at auction, and have brought as high as $2,000 each. The coach dog is from Denmark, and is not of much value. Some Arctic sled dogs and Esquimaux dogs were brought here by Dr. Kane. One was kept for a long while at the United States Hospital, at West Philadelphia. They are fox like in shape, remarkable for activity and vigilance, and have an acuter sense of hearing than any other dog. Most of the dogs about our streets are spurious, and are not even half breeds.

☞Why should a young lady resent a squeeze from her sweetheart? Because such manipulations are improper.

How Much Makes a Man Rich?

"To be rich," said Mr. Marcy, formerly Secretary of State, requires only a satisfactory condition of mind. One man may be rich with a hundred dollars, while another, in the possession of millions, may think himself poor; and, if the necessaries of life are enjoyed by each, it is evident that the man who is best satisfied with his position is the richest.

To illustrate this idea, Mr. Marcy related the following anecdote: While I was Governor of the State of New York, said he, I was called upon one morning at my office, by a rough specimen of a backwoodsman, who stalked in and commenced conversation by inquiring 'if this was Mr. Marcy?"

I replied that was my name.

"Bill Marcy," said he.

I nodded assent.

"Used to live in Southport, didn't he?"

I answered in the affirmative, and began to feel a little curious to know who my visitor was, and what he was driving at.

"That's what I told them," cried the backwoodsmon, bringing his hand down on his thigh with a tremendous force. "I told em you was the same Bill Marcy who used to live in South-port; but they would not believe it, and I promised the next time I came to Albany to come and see you, and find out for sartin. Why, you know me, don't you, Bill?"

I didn't exactly like to ignore his acquaintance altogether, but for the life of me I could not recollect having seen him before; and so I replied that he had a familiar countenance, but that I was not able to call him by name.

"My name is Jack Smith," answered the backswoodman, "and we used to go to school together, thirty years ago, in the little red school house in old Southport. Well, times have changed since then, and you have become a great man, and got rich, I suppose."

I shook my head and was going to contradict that impression, when he broke in:

"Oh! yes you are, I know you are rich; no use denying it. You were comptroller for—for a long time; and the next time we heard of you, you were governor. You must have had a heap of money, and I am glad of it—glad to see you getting along so smart. You was always a smart lad at school, and I knew that you would come to something."

I thanked him for his good wishes and opinion, but told him that political life did not pay so well as he imagined. "I suppose," said I, "fortune has smiled upon you since I left Southport?"

"Oh, yes," said he, "I hain't got nothing to complain of. I must say I have got along right smart. You see, shortly after you left Southport, our whole family moved into Vermont, and put right into the woods, and I reckon our family cut down more trees and cleared more land than any other in the State."

"And so you have made a good thing of it. How much do you consider yourself worth?" I asked, feeling a little curious to know what he considered a fortune, as he seemed to be so well satisfied with his.

"Well," he replied, "I don't exactly know how much I am worth; but I think (straightening himself up) if all my debts were paid, I should be worth three hundred dollars clear cash!" He was rich, for he was satisfied.

The Extra Bounty.

The War Department has issued a series of regulations respecting the filing of claims for the "extra bounty" voted by Congress. All claims must be filed before the first of April, 1867 and no claims filed after that time will be settled until the former are paid.—The original discharge of the soldier must accompany the claim, and also, the affidavit required by the fourteenth section of the bounty act, and the further affidavit that he has not received, nor is he entitled to receive, from the United States, under any laws or regulations prior to the act of July 28, 1866, more than $100 bounty for any and all military service rendered by him during the late rebellion, over and above the amount therein claimed.—The forms now used in applying for bounty are to be used in applications for the extra bounty. Registers of the claims are to be kept by the Paymaster General and the Second Auditor, and if approved the amount of bounty paid to each will be noted, and if rejected the cause will be distinctly stated. Soldiers enlisted for three years or during the war, who were discharged by reason of the termination of the war, are entitled to the extra bounty. The minority of soldiers' heirs claiming bounty must be proved to have existed at the date of the passage of the act of July 28, 1866. The following classes of soldiers are prohibited from receiving extra bounty by the provisions of the act; Dishonorably discharged soldiers, although they may have served the full period of their enlistment; those discharged during their term of enlistment by way of favor or punishment; those discharged on account of disability contracted in the service, but not occasioned by wounds received in the line of duty, who shall not have previously served two or three years respectively at the time of discharge; those discharged on account of disability existing at the time of their enlistment; the heirs of those who have died since their discharge, of wounds or disease not contracted in the service and in the line of duty; the surviving soldiers, as well as heirs of deceased soldiers, when such soldiers have bartered, sold, assigned, loaned, transferred, exchanged, or given away their final discharge papers.

A FORTUNATE KISS.

The following pretty little story is narrated by Frederick Bremer, who vouches for its truthfulness:

In the University of Upsala, in Sweden, lived a young student, a noble youth, with great love for studies, but without means for pursuing them. He was poor, without connections. Still he studied, lived in great poverty, but keeping a cheerful heart, and trying to look at the future which looked so grim to him. His good humor and excellent qualities made him beloved by his comrades. One day he was standing at the square with some of them, prattling away an hour of leisure, when the attention of the young men became arrested by a young and elegant lady who, by the side of an older one, was slowly walking over the place. It was the daughter of the Governor of Upsala, living in the city, and the lady was her governess. She was generally known for her goodness and gentleness of character, and looked at with admiration by all the students. As the young men stood gazing at her as she passed, like a graceful vision, one of them suddenly exclaimed:

"Well, it would be worth something to have a kiss from such a mouth."

The poor student, the hero of our story, who looked on that pure, angelic face, exclaimed, as if by inspiration:

"Well, I think I could have it."

"Well!" cried his friends in a chorus, "are you crazy? Do you know her?"

"Not at all," he answered, "but I think she would kiss me if I asked her."

"What! in this place—and before all our eyes?"

"Yes?"

"Freely?"

"Yes, freely."

"Well, if she would give you a kiss in that manner, I will give you a thousand!" exclaimed one of the party.

"And I," "and I," exclaimed three or four others, for it happened that several rich men were in the group, and the bets ran high on so improbable an event. The challenge was made and received in less time than we take to tell it.

Our hero (my authority tells not whether he was plain or handsome. I have my peculiar reasons for believing that he was rather plain, but singularly good looking at the same time,) immediately walked up to the lady and said:

"Mine fraulein, my fortune is now in your hands."

She looked at him with astonishment, but arrested her steps. He proceeded to state his name and condition, his aspirations, and related simply what had just passed between him and his comrades.

The young lady listened attentively, and at his ceasing to speak she said, blushingly, but with great sweetness:

"If by so little a thing so much good can be effected, it would be foolish for me to refuse your request," and publicly in the open square she kissed him.

Next day the student was sent for by the Governor. He wanted to see the man who dared to seek a kiss from his daughter in that way, and whom she consented to kiss.

He received him with a scrutinizing bow, but after an hour's conversation was so pleased with him that he invited him to dine at his table during his studies at Upsala.

Our young friend pursued his studies in such a manner that it soon made him regarded as the most promising student in the University.

Three years were now passed since the first kiss, when the young man was allowed to give a second kiss to the daughter of the Governor as his wife.

He became, later, one of the noted scholors in Sweden, and was much respected for his character. His works will endure while time lasts among the works of science; and from this happy union sprang a family well known in Sweden at the present time, whose wealth and high position in society are regarded as trifles in comparison with its goodness and love.

Courage in Every-Day Life.

Have the courage to discharge a debt while you have the money in your pocket.

Have the courage to do without that which you do not need, however much your eyes may covet it.

Have the courage to speak your mind when it is necessary you should do so, and to hold your tongue when it is prudent you should do so.

Have the courage to speak to a friend in a "seedy coat," even though you are in company with a rich one, and richly attired.

Have the courage to make a will, and a just one.

Have the courage to tell a man why you will not lend him your money.

Have the courage to "cut" the most agreeable acquaintance you have when you are convinced that he lacks principle. "A friend should bear with a friend's infirmities," but not with his vices.

Have the courage to show your respect for honesty, in whatever guise it appears; and your contempt for dishonest duplicity, by whomsoever exhibited.

Have the courage to wear your old clothes until you pay for your new ones.

Have the courage to obey your Maker, at the risk of being ridiculed by man.

Have the courage to prefer comfort and propriety to fashion in all things.

Have the courage to acknowledge your ignorance, rather than to seek credit for knowledge under false pretences.

Windgall on Horses.

A lady writes to the Observer: "We have been watching the paper for a remedy for windgalls. We have a valuable horse made lame by them. If any one will give us any information with regard to the cause and their treatment, through your valuable paper, they will greatly oblige us."

We can assign a plausible and true cause of windgalls, yet the remedy is quite another consideration, while a preventive is still another thing.

Windgalls are the undue enlargements of small sacks on the limbs of horses, about the hocks and upper pastern joints. They are the natural and certain results of hard driving and straining the limbs by hauling, or carrying heavy loads. Those horses that have small and slender limbs, are far more liable to have windgalls than such as have large and strong legs. When young horses are put to heavy work, are driven beyond their strength, or required to draw so heavy loads that they strain themselves, windgalls will soon appear on their legs. Horses that have not been overworked nor strained before they are six years old, seldom have windgalls.

There are various ways of treating windgalls. Sometimes they are incurable; and the more they are tampered with, the worse it is for the animal. In some instances, the cautery is employed to remove windgalls. Yet no one but a skillful veterinarian of extensive experience should attempt to apple this remedy. The best and most efficacious remedy that we have ever met with, is to procure a quarter of a pound of arnica flowers, at the drug store, put in a bottle, and fill the bottle with whisky, and cork it tightly. After it has steeped about one day, let the windgalls be bathed thoroughly with this liquid. Bathe and rub the legs and windgalls well for five minutes with water previous to applying the arnica and whisky. If the horse is young, gentle driving and a thorough application of this remedy will almost always effect a cure after a few months. Windgalls on the legs of old horses will sometimes yield to the remedy. Yet in many instances the old horse will need to be rejuvenated before his windgalls be cured.

AUTUMN MANAGEMENT ON FRUIT ORCHARDS.—When it is desirable to save the fruit of pear or apple trees without being bruised, all the small stones, sticks, pieces of brush and every such thing that will injure the fruit should be removed from the orchards early in September, so that a good coat of grass may cover the ground before the fruit is gathered in October. If a soft, thick covering of grass is over the ground the fruit that falls will not be bruised unless it should strike a limb or fall on other fruit. If the ground has been plowed, or rooted over by swine, let it be leveled off with harrows and hoes, and if lumpy, pass a heavy roller over it. Then sow a liberal dressing of orchard grass seed, or timothy seed. If it is not desirable to stock down an orchard, and a person has an abundance of straw of any kind, let it be spread on the ground beneath the fruit, so as to cover the entire surface, about two inches deep. Salt hay is excellent for such a purpose. When on a visit to New Jersey a short time since, we saw a large number of fruit trees, the boughs of which were bending beneath the heavy burden of fruit. Salt hay had been spread beneath the trees so that none of the fruit might fall on the hard ground. If this precaution is not taken, the fruit which falls to the ground will usually be badly bruised.—New York Times.

HOW TO KEEP EGGS.—Mr. G. Kenydey Genelem, in his work entitled "Poultry Breeding in a Commercial Point of View," gives the following directions for the preservation of eggs: "Now, the most effective, simple and economical plan for truly preserving eggs, or rendering them fit for hatching purposes, is to use the patent stoppered glass jars, with vulcanized India rubber joints, and proceed thus: Immediately after daily collecting the eggs, put the jar in hot water, and when thoroughly warm so as to rarify the air, place the eggs in the jar, the pointed end uppermost, and pack the line with paper shavings or cocoa fibers to prevent their breaking; then close the jar before taking it

THE RESULT.

Pennsylvania will go from 15,000 to 20,000 for Geary. Particulars may change the figures considerably.

Cambria gives Johnston for Congress a small majority—he is beaten in the District.

The Radicals have a gain in Congressmen.

The result in the county is in favor of the Radicals. The whole ticket elected with the exception of Clarkson, perhaps.

Wharton falls 250 or 300 votes short of his party vote.

The majority in this county will be about 800 for Geary.

THE NORTHERN FIRE-EATERS.—Those terrible fellows, the Southern fire-eaters, were swept out of existence by the tempest of war which they brought upon the country. Where now are the Yanceys, Rhetts, Toombses, and the class of men whom they represented? Where are the fierce and furious speeches with which they used to inflame the nation, and by means of which they finally "fired the Southern heart and precipitated the Cotton States into revolution." Gone—forever and wholly gone. But in their stead we have now a small and equally terribly set of Northern Fire-eaters—men of the same narrow and extreme cast of mind, the same hot and uncontrollable passions, the same fierce language, the same ambitious purposes. They live by firing the northern heart, by playing upon the sectional feelings, and by embroiling the popular passions.—There must be a check put upon them by the common sense and reason of the people, or they will yet bring the country into a state of turmoil equally terrible with that from which it has just emerged. That check can be the most effectually administered now by honest, peace-loving Representatives, of whatever party, in our National Congress.

☞Fred. Douglas, in a speech at Philadelphia, said that in the Address adopted at the National Convention in Philadelphia on the 14th of August, there were many things which he approved. Indeed "if that address had emanated from a colored Convention he thought he should have gone for every word of it." We do not doubt it. It is not the principles of that address, or the policy which it advocates, to which objection is taken,—but only the quarter from which it comes. We have seen nowhere any serious attempt to refute the arguments or overthrow the principles of that Convention. Indeed, they are very generally accepted as perfectly just and true by the great body of the Union men and Republicans throughout the North. The only objection to them is that they come from the wrong quarter. If they had only come "from a colored Convention" they would have been eagerly indorsed and adopted.

☞The returns of most of the Republican counties have been received unofficially and show gains for them.

Slanders on the President.

EX-GOV. THROOP TO MR. IVES.

WILLOW BROOK, Tuesday, Sept. 25, '66.

To Rev. B. I. Ives:

SIR: I have been told that at a political meeting recently held at Auburn, of which you were one of the orators, you asserted in the presence of a large assembly that the President of the United States, at an entertainment given to him by the citizens of Auburn, on my grounds, became so beastly drunk that, on his leaving the grounds, the Mayor was obliged to help him into the carriage, and to hold him up there until they reached the city; and that you turned round to the Mayor, sitting near you, and quoted him as authority, and that the Mayor was silent. As stories are apt to augment or change their character in passing, the above may be a misrepresentation of what you said on that occasion; and, if so, I am sure it will be agreeable to you to correct it. It is the object of this note to afford you an opportunity to give your own version of what you did say; and, also, that if you did say that the President was drunk, to give the assertion a flat contradiction. I do this from my own knowledge, and I am supported by incontrovertible testimony, both of ladies and gentlemen. If you feel justified to persist in the slander, have the goodness to state your authority; for I know nothing of your character which would lead me to believe that you would utter so foul a slander without believing it to be true, and that if you were convinced of an error you would be most happy to acknowledge it. I feel this assurance from the obligations of your social calling, which requires you to teach others not to bear false witness. The story has gone abroad throughout this community, and is believed by all predisposed, and, no doubt, far beyond those limits.

I note, also, that in a paper I never heard of before, printed at Auburn, called the Independent, of which I suppose, you are an associate editor, in a number dated Sept. 20, there is a kindred remark, in these words: "Such is the length to which the drunken mountebank, whom Booth made President, would carry the fools who follow him." I do not address you, Sir, in the interest of any party; for it is well known that I have no mingled in party strifes for nearly thirty years. I interpose in this matter to vindicate the moral character of an injured individual who is not in a situation to vindicate himself from word of mouth slanderers in obscure quarters; and feel that it is a duty incumbent upon every honorable man, under such circumstances, who is acquainted with facts, to bear testimony against injurious falsehoods. I consider the duty in this case peculiarly mine, inasmuch as the President was, in a manner, my guest on the occasion referred to.

The political and official conduct of the President are fair subjects for discussion, and if there is a blemish in his moral character he is no more exempt than another person from the exposure of it. But like every other man, if he is falsely accused he suffers a wrong for which the culprit is responsible. The crime is indeed the greater committed against a person charged with his responsibilities, for it is a damage to the public as well as to the individual.

After leaving the table of the Governor, the President retired to my house, where he met a party of ladies and gentlemen, and after having passed sometime with them he withdrew to a more private room for repose. There I joined him, and remained with him until he was summoned to enter the carriage to return to the city. I saw him seated in the carriage with Gov. Seward by his side and then took leave of him.

I should be gratified by a prompt reply; the circulation of the venom should be arrested as speedily as possible.

Respectfully yours,
E. T. THROOP.

To this letter no reply was received. Several notes are appended from gentlemen who were present on the occasion referred to and who testify that President Johnson drank nothing stronger than coffee.

Grant's Views of Reconstruction.

[Conclusion of Gen. Grant's Report to the President after a Tour of Inspection in the South, December 1865.

The following are the conclusions come to by me:

"I am satisfied that the mass of the thinking men of the South accept the present situation of affairs in good faith. The questions which have heretofore divided the sentiments of the people of the two sections—slavery and state rights, or the right of a State to secede from the Union—they regard as having been settled forever by the highest tribunal—arms—that men can resort to. I was pleased to learn from the leading men whom I met that they not only accepted the decision arrived at as final, but that now the smoke of battle has cleared away, and time has been given for reflection, that this decision has been a fortunate one for the whole country, they receiving the like benefits from it with those who opposed them in the field and in the Cabinet.

My observations led me to the conclusion that the citizens of the Southern States are anxious to return to self government within the Union as soon as possible; that while reconstructing they want and require protection from the government, that they are in earnest in wishing to do what they think is required by the Government not humiliating to them as citizens, and that if such a course was pointed out they would pursue it in good faith. It is to be regretted that there cannot be a greater commingling at this time between the citizens of the two sections, and particularly those entrusted with the law-making power.

U. S. GRANT,
Lieutenant General.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON,

Andrew Johnson is President of the United States. He is as true to the Constitution and the Union to day as he was yesterday. He has two years yet to serve. We have no fears of him getting weak in the knees

Letter from Secretary McCulloch.

Secretary McCulloch, having been invited by some friends to Indiana to deliver political addresses in that State during the present political campaign, returned the following answer:

WASHINGTON, D. C., Friday, Sept. 28, 1866.

GENTLEMEN: I have delayed acknowledging the receipt of your letter of the 7th inst., in hope that I might be able so to arrange my business as to be absent for a few days from Washington.

I regret to be under the necessity of saying that my official engagements are of such a nature that it will not be in my power to accept your invitation to address my fellow citizens of Lafayette, Peru and Fort Wayne, as requested by you, prior to the October elections, upon the momentous questions which are now engrossing the attention of the people of the United States. I regret that this is the case, as it would afford me great satisfaction to have a fair, frank talk with my old friends and acquaintances in Indiana with whom I have acted politically in times past, and especially during the late civil war.

In the unfortunate controversy that has arisen between the President and Congress I stand with the former. In doing so I am not conscious of abandoning any principle or becoming a convert to any new doctrine. In common with the great mass of the Union Party, I have always held that the States whose citizens rebelled against the Federal Government never ceased to be States in the Union, and when the rebellion had been overcome I felt it my duty to co-operate with the President in carrying into effect the plan of restoration which had been approved by his lamented predecessor. To that plan I regarded the party of which I was a member as virtually committed by the action of its Conventions and the resolutions of Congress, before Mr. Johnson attempted to carry it into effect. To that plan I am still committed by the dictates of my best judgment. It is, in my opinion, wise, liberal and statesmanlike—the only plan yet presented which properly regards both the rights of the Central Government and the rights of the States, which can be adopted with safety by the conquerors and accepted without sacrifice of honor and manhood by the conquered, and which leads directly to reconciliation and peace.

I have no time to write you at length, but I cannot close this note without remarking that the charges made against Mr. Johnson of abandoning his principles or of desiring to bring the recent enemies of the country into power are like the reports in regard to his habits of personal indulgence—utterly destitute of foundation—slanders of which the authors will be ashamed when the heat of party passion shall have subsided. In his unpremeditated remarks he may have indulged in a plainness and directness of speech unusual in the Chief Magistrate of the nation, and offensive to some very critical and fastidious people; but everybody admits that his messages and other official communications (and by these he must be judged) are models of ability and good taste. Men may differ with him in regard to his manner of dealing with the States recently in rebellion, but no fair man could have been with him, as I have been during the trying eighteen months of his Administration, without being impressed with his love of country and devotion to duty, with the unselfishness and uprightness of his character and the honesty of his purposes. That the principles which he advocates and represents will be vindicated at the approaching elections I hope and believe. Of their ultimate vindication I am as fully persuaded as I am of the perpetuity of our republican institutions.

I have the honor to be, very truly, your obedient servant,

HUGH McCULLOCH.

A Noble Act Rewarded.

Gift from the President to an Indian Chief.

President Johnson has caused a silver medal to be prepared, together with one hundred silver dollars and a certificate of merit, for presentation to Hoo-ke-op, a chief of the Blackfeet tribe of Indians, as a reward for rescuing a white woman from captivity. The medal weighs about half a pound. On one side it bears the profile of the President around which are the words:—"Andrew Johnson, President of the United States, 1865." On the other side is a pedestal, bearing the word "Peace," and upon it a bust of Washington. In front of the pedestal Columbia is grasping an Indian by the hand. Columbia carries an American flag, and is surrounded by the implements of progress and industry. The Indian carries his weapon, and in the distance is a herd of buffaloes bounding through the prairie grass. The certificate was engrossed on parchment in the office of Indian Affairs, and bears a vignette of the United States coat-of arms, executed with the pen, beneath, which is the following inscription:—

"EXECUTIVE MANSION, WASHINGTON, September 29, 1866.—To Hoo-ke-op, the Chief:—I am informed by the two commissioners sent by me last spring to treat with the Indians on the Upper Missouri river country, of the friendly act of Hoo-ke-op, the chief, a member of the Blackfeet tribe of Indians, in rescuing from captivity a white woman named Fanny Kelly, in 1864. I thank Hoo-ke-op, the Chief, for his noble conduct in this matter, and as a memento of my friendship for him so long as he remains friendly with the white man, I direct that a silver medal be given to him, that all my red children, and all my white children, when they look upon it may know that the Great Father at Washington is very much pleased with him. I also direct that one hundred silver dollarrs be given to Hoo-ke-op, the Chief, and I write my name on this paper to be given to him, that he may know that the silver medal and the silver dollars are sent to him from Washington.

ANDREW JOHNSON,
"President of the United States.

"D. N. COOLEY, Commissioner of Indian Affairs."

General Lee's Application for Pardon.

Headquarters Armies United States,
Washington, D. C., June 20, 1866.
Gen. R. E. Lee, Richmond, Va.:

GENERAL: Your communication of date the 13th inst., stating the steps you had taken after reading the President's proclamation of the 29th ult., with the view of complying with its provisions when you learned that, with others, you were to be indicted for treason by the Grand Jury at Norfolk; that you had supposed that the officers and men of the Army of Northern Virginia were, by the terms of their surrender, protected by the United States Government from molestation, so long as they conformed to its conditions; that you were ready to meet any charges that might be preferred against you, and did not wish to avoid trial, but that if you were correct as to the protection granted by your parole; and were not to be prosecuted, you desired to avail yourself of the President's amnesty and proclamation, and inclosing an application therefor, with the request, that, in the event it be acted on, has been received and forwarded to the Secretary of War, with the following opinion indorsed thereon:

In my opinion the officers and men paroled at Appomattox Court-house, and since upon the same terms given to Lee, cannot be tried for treason so long as they observe the terms of their parole. This is my understanding. Good faith, as well as true policy, dictates that we should observe the condition of that convention. Bad faith on the part of the Government, or a construction of that convention subjecting the officers to trial for treason, would produce a feeling of insecurity in the minds of all the officers and men, of so disposed, they might even regard such an infraction of terms by the Government as an entire release from all obligations on their part. I will state further that the terms granted by me met with the hearty approval of the President at the time, and of the country generally. The action of Judge Underwood, in Norfolk, has already had an injurious effect, and I would ask that he be ordered to quash all indictments found against paroled prisoners of war, and to desist from the further prosecution of them.

U. S. GRANT, Lieut. General.

Headquarters Armies United States,
June 16, 1865.

This opinion, I am informed, is substantially the same as that entertained by the Government. I have forwarded your application for amnesty and pardon to the President, with the following indorsement thereon:

"Respectfully forwarded through the Secretary of War to the President, with the earnest recommendation that this application of Gen. R. E. Lee for amnesty and pardon may be granted him. The oath of allegiance required by recent order of the President does not accompany this, for the reason, I am informed by Gen. Ord requiring it had not reached Richmond when this was forwarded.

U. S. GRANT, Lieut. General.

Headquarters Armies United States, June 10, 1865.

Very respectfully,
U. S. GRANT, Lieut. General.

A Singular Character--Eccentricity and Pauperism.

The Mobile Gazette publishes the following remarkable history:—There are few residents of Mobile who have not seen the Sicilian, Andrea, hobbling through our streets upon his patched crutch, and walking staff, or lying on some door step, basking in the sun, wrapped in the rags of poverty—a picture of filth and pauperism, without a parallel in any other city. Many reports are given of his history, of the cause by which he lost his leg, and of his eccentricities, but from these conflicting statements it is difficult to arrive at the truth, and no inducement can be offered him to speak of his past career. Importunities in this direction are most certain to be met by a fit of passion calculated to deter the most persevering from pressing the subject too closely. But report states that in his boyhood he was one of Lafayette's crew, and lost his leg during the action between the Gulf pirate and an English man of war.

This statement is without any substantial authority, but there seems to be much more truth in the following, which has just been related to us by a gentleman who has seen him daily for the last fifteen years: About eighteen years ago Andrea resided in New Orleans, and while one day assisting to put some heavy timber in a vessel undergoing repairs, one of the logs fell upon and crushed his leg. Amputation became necessary, and was performed at the Marine Hospital in that city, and a few years afterwards he came to Mobile, where he soon became an institution.

He has relatives in good circumstances, who have made many efforts to reform his vagrant habits, and once prevailed upon him with such success as to establish him in a fruit stand, fitted up for his benefit, in which he continued but a few days, when he broke up his stands and boxes, pitched his fruit into the dock, and without giving a word of explanation, resumed his uncouth habits. He has been repeatedly provided with good clothes, which seemed to disgust him more the nearer they approached gentility, and a few days will find them torn up, patched and repatched, until all semblance of shape has been destroyed in them, and Andrea rejoice in his rags again. Strangers, thinking him an object of charity, sometimes offer him money, which he always throws back at them in a fit of rage and passion.

When driven by hunger he will sometimes ask for a piece of bread, which is never refused him, but more frequently enters a saloon or bakery in whatever part of the city he may be, and helps himself to any article of food desirable to him, and coolly emerges into the street again, without saying "by your leave," or "thank you." At the market he has been known to take up a fish, sometimes devouring it raw, but when his appetite gives him leisure he goes through a process of cooking it, peculiar to himself.

Without scalding, cleaning, or giving it any civilized preparation whatever, he will place it on the coals of some of the furnaces on Front street, and permitting it to broil but a few seconds, draws the tempting morsel forth, and instantly devours it. Taking his position in the sun, the vermin with which his rags are populated soon warm into life and activity, when Andrea's occupation begins by an onslaught upon the graybacks. He will go under one of the docks when the process of ablution becomes a necessity with him, wash his clothes, and after hanging them out to dry, take his crutches and swim to the opposite side of the river, remaining there until his apparel is sufficiently dry to be worn, when he returns and resumes his peregrinations through the city, travelling day and night, sleeping in the sun, wherever and whenever fatigue overtakes him.

Andrea is never dishonest, takes nothing without being seen, and never accepts anything that is not absolutely necessary to the support of life. His constitution is of iron; he has never been sick, or rather has never been missed from the street, unless (it is said) on the full of the moon, when he becomes morose, and apparently out of his mind. Left to himself he is harmless enough, but when set upon by mischievous boys, is easily worked into a dangerous passion.

Horrible Daring.

The Buffalo Express of Friday says: A man named John Ross was arrested at Evans during the early part of this month, charged with stealing a horse from United States Deputy Collector Thompson, who had seized the same at the Black Rock Ferry for the non-payment of duties. He was brought before Justice Albro, who, on the 5th of September, fully committed him to jail to await trial on the charge.

He remained in jail without anything unusual happening until yesterday afternoon, when at the usual hour of letting out the prisoners he went down into the privy, taking with him the rope from his bunk. He then pulled up a couple of rotten boards, and lowered himself into the horrible vault. The rope was found attached to the scantling but a short time after his disappearance, and search was commenced immediately for the prisoner.

The vault is an exceedingly large one, and has not been cleansed for some time, and the accumulation of filth rendered the stench unbearable. Further examination demonstrated that the man had not only descended into its depths, but that he had disappeared in the sewer, which is only sixteen inches square, connecting the vault with the main sewer on Ellicott street. A long pole was procured by the officials, and an effort made to reach him by thrusting it into the aperture, but without success. One of the prisoners was induced to enter the sewer to see if he could find him, but he was unable to resist the influence of the fetid atmosphere, and came out gasping for breath.

From the description of the sewer it seems almost inevitable that the man must have suffocated before reaching the main drain in Ellicott street, or if he did not, he must have experienced some terrible sensations in forcing his passage through.

He is described as being five feet eleven inches in height, and proportionately stout, and it would seem almost impossible for such a person to squeeze himself along the narrow passage from the vault to the main sewer; but if he did succeed in accomplishing his object, what must have been his horror to find himself in the passage, when perhaps he thought the small passage terminated somewhere above ground. He may have reached the large sewer, but, in that event, his fate could only be a most frightful death, in the most dismal place to be conceived of—the dark sewer of a large city, surrounded by myriads of rats, which, he knew, would soon feast upon his dead body—perhaps would not even wait for his death, but attack him while still alive.

Whatever may have been his fate, the incident must be regarded as one of the most horrible that has ever occurred in our city.

A MILLIONAIRE SPINSTER IN TROUBLE.—Miss Hetty H. Robinson, the aged spinster worth five millions, who last year instituted proceeding to break her aunt Howland's will and got two millions more at the expense of certain charities named therein, has got herself into trouble, and won't get out of it easy. The affair is being examined by a Commissioner at New Bedford, Massachusetts, and not much information has leaked out as yet, but the Standard says there is a bad forgery involved. Miss Robinson claims to break the will under an alleged "contract" with her aunt that neither should marry, and that the survivor should be sole heir to the other. The contestant has recently put into the case a duplicate copy of the contract, it is supposed, to create the impression that both copies were executed at the same time, and one retained by each of the parties, experts stated on oath last week, that the signature of Sylvia Howland to the two contracts were traced through the paper from that on the will, and a series of careful measurements show the three signatures to be identical to the nicest particular. Rumor further has it that Miss Hetty has attempted to bribe the Commissioner, and that overtures were extended to one of the Justices of the Supreme Court of Massachusetts. If Hetty does not serve a term in State Prison she will come short of her deserts.

A BURGLAR'S REVENGE.—A servant girl at Fall River, Mass. saw a burglar at one o'clock, Thursday morning entering the window of her chamber in the attic. She immediately arose in bed, when he sprang toward her and threatened to blow her brains out if she made any noise. He then seized her, placed his hand over her mouth, and inflicted several cuts on her breast and neck, with some sharp instrument declaring that he would have his revenge this time, as she had disappointed him twice. In the scuffle which ensued, the other servants, with the members of the family, were aroused and rushed to her chamber, but the scoundrel made his escape by the window The girl was found to have received three severe cuts across the breast, and a slight one under the chin. In her struggle with the ruffin she pulled the bed clothes up around her breast and neck, which probably prevented the wounds from being more serious. No reason for the assault can be assigned except that the girl had given the alarm on the previous visits of the villian to the premises.

We may be able to give full returns next week.

UNPARALLELED SUCCESS!
Orders have already been received for upwards of 300,000 Volumes of the AMERICAN CONFLICT!
HORACE GREELEY'S HISTORY OF THE GREAT REBELLION, AND THE WEEKLY ORDERS NOW AVERAGE 2,000 VOLUMES!
W. L. HARVEY, Agent, is happy to announce that this truly national work is now completed, and that he will be in Huntingdon county the second, third and fourth weeks in October, 1866, to supply it to his subscribers. He will also take orders for and furnish the entire work to all who make early application.
Mr. Greeley's History of the Rebellion, is everywhere recognized by fair minded men of all parties, not only as the highest authority, but greatly surpassing all other works, both in conception of plan and excellence of detail, abounding in clear and graphic delineations of events, candid and accurate statements of facts, and marked throughout by the most thorough and painstaking research. It has been subjected to the most searching criticisms by the press of all political parties and religious denominations, and in not less than one thousand notices and reviews, by the most able journals, not only in this country, but also in Europe, its great superiority over all other works of the kind is most emphatically attested, even by the author's most determined political opponents. This work contains an account of all the battles, raids, skirmishes, &c., while there were fifty important battles, an account of which does not appear in Headley's or Abbott's, so-called histories of the war.
"It would be difficult to place too high an estimate on the service Mr. Greeley has rendered our country, by the preparation of this volume. I await the forthcoming of the 2d volume with eager expectation.—W. D. KELLY, M. C.
"I learn the works of labor, studied candor and accuracy.—WM. H. SEWARD.
"Its accuracy gives it a value beyond any other history of that eventful period. The great industry and impartiality of Mr. Greeley will make this the best of all its predecessors of the great rebellion.—THADDEUS STEVENS, M. C.
The Cincinnati Enquirer, a Democratic paper says of Greeley's History—"It contains a vast amount of information and is altogether superior to any volume on the subject that has yet appeared."
From the (London) Westminster Review:—"It is temperate and gives way to no vituperation, although thoroughly in earnest, and if we may admire the industry which has enabled the editor of the leading newspaper in America to do this at such a time, we still more admire the spirit of fairness and directness which characterize this very valuable work."

AGENTS WANTED FOR THE PICTORIAL BOOK OF
Anecdotes & Incidents of the Rebellion.
Heroic, Patriotic, Romantic, Humorous and Tragical.
There is a certain portion of the war that will never go into the regular histories, nor be embodied in romance or poetry, which is a very real part of it, and will, if preserved, convey to succeeding generations a better idea of the spirit of the conflict than many dry reports or careful narratives of events, and this part may be called the gossip, the fun, the pathos, of the war.
These illustrate the character of the leaders, the humor of the soldiers, the devotion of women, the bravery of men, the pluck of our heroes, the romance and hardships of the service. From the beginning of the war the author has been engaged in collecting all the anecdotes connected with or illustrative of it, and has grouped and classified them under appropriate heads, and in a very attractive form.
The volume is profusely illustrated with over 300 engravings by the first artists, which are really beautiful; worthy of examination as specimens of the art. Many of them are set into the body of the text, after the popular style of Lossing's Pictorial Field Book of the Revolution. The book's contents include reminiscences of camp, picket, spy, bivouac, siege and battle-field adventures; thrilling feats of bravery, wit, drollery, comical and ludicrous adventures; etc., etc.
Amusement as well as instruction may be found in every page, as graphic detail, brilliant wit, and authentic history, are skillfully interwoven in this work of literary art.
This work sells itself. The people are tired of dry details and partisan works, and want something humorous, romantic and startling. Our agents are making from $100 to $200 per month, clear of all expenses. Send for circulars, giving full particulars, and see our terms and proof of the above assertion.

Accident.

On Saturday night last, a freight train was thrown off the track near McVeytown by coming in contact with a cow. The locomotive was upset, and the fireman immediately killed. We understand the fireman's name was Vandevander, and that he had been married but three months.

Our Band.

Old Huntingdon can well feel proud of her cornet band. The members have been called to the different political meetings in this and surrounding counties within the last two weeks, and we can testify to the numerous flatteries they received. The Huntingdon Band (of good fellows) has made favorable impressions wherever it has gone. Long may they and their trumpets flourish!

Good Riding.

On the days of the Fair in this place a little fair-faced lad not more than three feet high might have been seen riding round the ring on a large black horse. The great contrast did not fail to attract the attention of the by-standers, who could not but admire the youth's good riding. His name is Harry Jacobs, son of Mr. A. A. Jacobs, and we would suggest that the Committee award the premium of the riding whip to him.

Died.

JEREMIAH SANKEY, a resident of Henderson township, died on Sunday night last of chronic diarrhœa. "Jerry" was familiarly known in this community, and many will mourn his loss. He was a man who, notwithstanding his eccentricities, possessed a very forbearing nature, a good disposition, and a frank, open heart. He was an innocent individual and an industrious citizen. His memory will never be forgotten. Peace to his remains.

Rich Reading.

Harvey, and a Kaffir Chief of Mozambique, with other illustrations, given in the October number of the Phrenological Journal. Also, Social Science; Dreams and Dreaming; Psychology; Physiology; Physiognomy and Phrenology. It is a very interesting number—only 20 cts. or $2 a year. Address Fowler & Wells, 389 Broadway New York.

☞A great many Radicals take pains to tell us what Congress is, and that it has power to admit Southern representatives, but they forget to tell us whether Congress is higher than the Constitution. They also forget to tell us why it refused to admit loyal men from the South, when it has the power to do so. They tell us Congress is the law-making power, but they neglect to tell us that the Constitution is the supreme law of the land, and it says that each State shall have equal suffrage in Congress.

☞If it was deemed expedient by some Union men to call all those who opposed the Administration of President Lincoln, Copperheads, traitors, &c., what should we call all those who oppose the Administration of President Johnson? Times have changed wonderfully when those who now support the Government are to be called traitors. President Johnson has been repeatedly called a traitor, but yet the Radical Congress was afraid to bring the charge of treason against him, knowing that they could not sustain it.

A LAUGHABLE STORY.—We don't know who got up the following good one, but it does his ingenuity infinite credit, whoever the author may be:

Scene at the counting room of a morning newspaper. Enter a man of Teutonic tendencies, considerably the worst for last night's spree.

Teuton—(To the man at the desk) —"If you blease, sir, I vants de paper mit dis mornings. One vot hash de names of de beebles vot kills cholera all de vile."

He was handed a paper, and, after looking over it in a confused way, he said:

"Viil you be so goot as to read de names vot don't have de cholera no more to soon shust now, and see if Carl Geinsenkoopenoffen has got em?"

The clerk very obligingly read the list, the Teuton listening with trembling attention, wiping the perspiration from his brow meanwhile, in great excitement. When the list was completed, the name of Carl Geisen— well no matter about the whole name, it wasn't there. The Teuton's face brightened up, and he exclaimed:

"You don't find em?"

Clerk—"No such name there, sir."

Teuton—(Seizing him warmly by the hand)—"This is nice—this is some funs; that ish my name. I pin drunk as never was, by tam, I vas afraid I vas gone ted mit cholera, and didn't know it. Mine Got! I vas scart."

DR. VENARD'S

STAR MAGIC LINIMENT.

$1000 REWARD will be paid for any medicine that excels this for the following diseases:

Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Spinal Affections, Contracted Joints, Cholic Pains, Pains in Side or Back, Toothache, Headache, Sprains, Sore Throat, Cuts, Bruises, Burns, and all Diseases of the Muscles, Skin and Glands.

This is an Internal and External Medicine, composed of Roots, Herbs and Barks such as our forefathers used.—There is a bountiful supply on the earth to cure all complaints, if we only knew what they were. This has been a subject for constant study with the Medical Faculty for a great many years, to find out the kinds best adapted to the above complaints—how to put them together, and what portions to use.

This wonderful remedy needs no recommendation save the results which invariably follow its application.

☞This popular remedy is fast coming into use from the fact that it gives good satisfaction.

☞PHYSICIANS are invited to test its efficacy in all cases of Rheumatism, Affections of the Spinal Column, and all Diseases of the Skin, Muscles and Glands. It has been used in thousands of instances under the personal supervision of the Inventors, and has never disappointed their expectations. All we ask for it is a trial—experimental proof—not the testimony of the men of straw, are the vouchers we desire to present to the public.

It would be well for many now lying in beds of torture, if these facts could reach their sick chambers. It is more important to them than to the inventors that this should be the case. "Truth is mighty and must prevail."

☞Keep it in your family, for sickness comes when you least expect it.

The merit of these pumps is shown by the fact that the demand for them is rapidly increasing everywhere. There is no iron in them to corrode and injure the water. PROF. H. M'ENTYRE'S GREAT REMEDY,

THE

INDIAN COMPOUND

Internal and External Medicine,

WILL CURE:

☞ Diarrhœa, Bloody Flux in one day,
☞ Headache and Earache in three minutes.
☞ Toothache in one minute.
☞ Neuralgia in five minutes,
☞ Sprains in twenty minutes,
☞ Sore Throat in ten minutes,
☞ Cholic and Cramp in five minutes.
☞ Rheumatism in one day,
☞ Pain in the Back or Side in ten minutes,
☞ Bad Coughs or Colds in one day,
☞ Fever and Ague in one day.
☞ Cures Deafness, Asthma, Piles,
☞ Bronchitis Affections, Dyspepsia,
☞ Inflammation of the Kidneys, Erysipelas,
☞ Liver Complaint and Palpitation of the Heart.

Keep it in your Families—Sickness comes when least expected.

I propose to check, and effectually dissipate more ache and pain, and to accomplish more perfect equilibrium of all the circulating fluids in the human system, than can be effected by any other, or all other methods of medical aid in the same space of time.

THIS POPULAR REMEDY is fast coming into use, for the fact that I cure, free of charge, all those complaints whenever there is an opportunity to do so. As soon as it is applied it almost miraculously kills the pain. I do not ask you to buy before you are certain of its efficiency. If you have an ache or pain, it is warranted to do all it purports on the label.

I do not propose to cure every disease—only a class named by my directions. My liniment operates on chemical and electric principles, and is, therefore, applicable, to the cure or natural restorative of all organic derangement arising from an improper circulation of the nerve vital fluids.

Prof. J. H. McEntyre's INDIAN COMPOUND acts directly on the absorbents, reducing glandular and other swellings in incredible short time, without any possible danger from its use under any possible circumstances.

This is an internal and external medicine—composed of roots, herbs and barks, such as our forefathers used.—There is a bountiful supply on earth to cure all complaints if we only know what they were.

This has been a great study with the Medical Faculty for many years, to find out the kinds best adapted to the above complaints—how to put them together, and what proportions to use.

STAR MAGIC LINIMENT.

$1000 REWARD will be paid for any medicine that excels this for the following diseases:

Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Spinal Affections, Contracted Joints, Cholic Pains, Pains in Side or Back, Toothache, Headache, Sprains, Sore Throat, Cuts, Bruises, Burns, and all Diseases of the Muscles, Skin and Glands.

This is an Internal and External Medicine, composed of Roots, Herbs and Barks such as our forefathers used.—There is a bountiful supply on the earth to cure all complaints, if we only knew what they were. This has been a subject for constant study with the Medical Faculty for a great many years, to find out the kinds best adapted to the above complaints—how to put them together, and what portions to use.

This wonderful remedy needs no recommendation save the results which invariably follow its application.

☞ This popular remedy is fast coming into use from the fact that it gives good satisfaction.

☞ PHYSICIANS are invited to test its efficacy in all cases of Rheumatism, Affections of the Spinal Column, and all Diseases of the Skin, Muscles and Glands. It has been used in thousands of instances under the personal supervision of the Inventors, and has never disappointed their expectations. All we ask for it is a trial—experimental proof—not the testimony of the men of straw, are the vouchers we desire to present to the public.

It would be well for many now lying in beds of torture, if these facts could reach their sick chambers. It is more important to them than to the inventors that this should be the case. "Truth is mighty and must prevail."

☞ Keep it in your family, for sickness comes when you least expect it.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

TO THE LADIES.—Do you really intend to cease wearing the beautiful styles now so prevalent, or dress less elegantly, because the rebel Jeff. Davis, was captured in Fashionable Female attire? One moment's calm reflection will surely serve to change your rash resolve. The angels had too much good sense to lay aside their pure chaste robes of white, because they had for a time served to hide the deformities of that Prince of Rebels, the Devil. Can you err in following the example of Angels? Then having made up your minds that you will continue to dress tastefully regardless of rebel acts, do not forget to call at the store of the subscribers, who will be happy at all times to furnish you with such articles of dress as you may desire. Urge your fathers, husbands, brothers, neighbors and children to visit the same store. They can here be suited in good articles of Boots, Shoes, Clothing Material, Hats, Caps, Queensware and a general assortment of Groceries, on as reasonable terms as at any House in town. Store on Southeast corner of the Diamond, Huntingdon, Pa.
